

Archaeology Site – Buffalo Jump

Students can jump from boulders onto a thick layer of bark mulch and dig beneath to discover a bison skeleton and examples of tools used by indigenous peoples during hunting seasons.

Links:

- Buffalo Hunt
- Head-Smashed-In

Canada's Bison: Restoring a Legacy

The Plains bison's struggle back from the edge of extinction is one of the great stories in North American conservation history. This video features the central role Parks Canada has and continues to play in the restoration of Plains bison to its native range in several National Parks.

 Watch video